What is the Anti-Poverty

The Anti-Poverty Network (APN) is an information-oriented forum open to all concerned with ending or eliminating poverty. APN includes grass-roots & advocacy organizations, faith-based groups, people living in poverty, labor unions, & others. It provides an opportunity for people to meet regularly to share specific, up-to-date reports about poverty and about actions and developments that will impact low income people. Participants are encouraged to present issues and proposals that they would like other groups to critique, endorse or consider for joint action. In addition, APN has itself, through discussion and collaboration, undertaken efforts and developed proposals which represent the consensus of participants.

Network?

The December 2009 Conference:

TOO ~~BIG~~ IMPORTANT TO FAIL: Economic Recovery for all!

The current economic crisis has had serious impact on the lowest income people in NJ. Even as signs of recovery begin to emerge, troubling trends in unemployment and deepening poverty remain evident. If there are portions of the private sector judged to be "too big to fail", then we need to make sure efforts to end poverty are understood as too IMPORTANT to fail. We must address the life and death issues faced by those who are poor in NJ.

For 10 years the Anti-Poverty Network has been engaged with state government to improve services to low income people. We've been leaders in calling for policies and programs that not only address people's needs, but also actually lift them out of poverty. Recognizing the seriousness of the challenges still ahead, we will honor leaders in government who have shown commitment and creativity in breaking cycles of poverty. Building on our history, we recognize that any economic recovery must include significant action to make lives better for people in need. The conference program and workshops will give factual information, inspiration, tools, and strategies for the fight to end poverty. Ending poverty is too important to fail!
